BUNDESFORSTE

FOCUS ON NATURE

Forests, meadows, mountains, lakes, alpine pastures, floodplains, moorland, ravines, caves, cabins, waterfalls, ruins, castles. Through WILD MEDIA, Österreichische Bundesforste (Austrian Federal Forests) offers creative professionals from around the world access to a wide range of exceptional natural locations across its lands.

From the Arlberg mountain range to the Donau-Auen National Park and from the Dachstein glacier to Wörthersee Lake. That's a huge cinema, with 850,000 hectares of natural land.

OUR SERVICES

We help you in finding the right natural setting for your film shoot, photo shoot or promotion, or in identifying the ideal location for an unforgettable event. We also contribute to the conservation of natural areas as part of Greenvolvement partnerships – for example through tree planting or species conservation projects.

We place great emphasis on the respectful treatment of nature and show serious consideration for ecological concerns and regional features. Sensitive areas such as breeding and spawning grounds are avoided.

LOCATION- SEARCH WITH ECO-CHECK

- Certification for Green Events and Green Meetings

ALL ABOUT SERVICE

NATURAL DIVERSITY

1001
NATURAL

Österreichische Bundesforste land is home to some of the richest natural landscapes and most valuable cultural treasures in Austria.

From the rugged peaks and remote valleys in the west, the impressive giant trees and mountain forests of the Tyrolean mountains, and the landscape of the Dachstein glacier, to large sections of the Hallstatt UNESCO World Heritage Site and the picturesque Salzkammergut region with its crystal-clear lakes. To the east can be found the captivating floodplains of the Donau-Auen, which are home to the enchanting Schloss Eckartsau hunting lodge. The south boasts attractive turquoise lakes surrounded by perfect alpine scenery.

WHERE NATURE IS AT HOME

Like no other enterprise, Österreichische Bundesforste bears the responsibility for Austria's natural landscape. Every tenth square metre of national territory – corresponding to 510,000 hectares of forestry, 74 of the largest lakes, thousands of kilometres of watercourses and many of the highest peaks in the country – is entrusted to Bundesforste for sustainable maintenance, protection and management. Nature conservation, the needs of society and economic success are all given the same importance at ÖBf.

Around half of the areas entrusted to ÖBf is protected due to their uniqueness and their importance for Austrian natural heritage.
